COUNTY FATHERS HAVE MEETING

The board of supervisors met in regular session Monday, December 13th, there being present Joseph M. Francis, presiding, Jas. T. Casey, Wm. H. Brown, John MacBain and C. V. Thompson.

An application from J. Fannucchi of Halfmoon Bay for a "class A" liquor license in the Fourth township was given its first reading.

Judge Geo. H. Buck was authorized to purchase three sets of book cases for his office, on motion of Casey, seconded by MacBain.

Taxcollector A. McSweeney appeared before the board and asked permission to purchase a letter filing case for his office. The request was granted, on motion of Casey, seconded by MacBain, the cost of said case not to exceed the sum of $45.00.

Surveyor J. V. Neuman presented a map of the Edward's subdivision in the First township. The map was approved on motion of Casey, seconded by MacBain.

The auditor's report showing the aggregate amount of allowance that can be made against the several funds of the county for the month of December, 1915, was read and ordered filed.

A communication from H. G. Hanson of Rockaway Beach, asking to be released from the liquor license bond of E. Schneller of that place was ordered filed.

On motion of Casey, seconded by Brown, it was ordered that the license of E. Schneller be cancelled, as the latter had disposed of his saloon business.

Bids were opened for the construction of a 4-inch, water bound macadam pavement on the Mission road to connect Holy Cross cemetery with the State Highway. The colma Construction Company submitted the only bid for the work, which was $2211.50.

It was moved by Casey, seconded by Brown, that the contract be awarded to the above firm.

After considerable discussion in the matter, during which Supervisor Casey made a strong plea for the letting of the contract, stating that his constituents demanded that the work be done and the road was an absolute necessity, it was ordered on an amandment offered by Brown and seconded by MacBain that action in the matter be deferred one week, Casey voting "no."

Supervisor MacBain opposed granting the contract, stating that he did not believe it advisable to expend the money in macadamizing the road now, when it would be necessary to construct a new road the full width next year.

Brown Brothers of San Mateo filed a claim against Howard and Ellison, contractors, for horseshoeing in the sum of $9.00. The claim was ordered filed.

Manuel Bennett, saloon-keeper and deputy constable at Pescadero, charged with having arrested and placed in jail a man named Frank Parsons, after the latter, according to an affidavit sworn to by District Attorney Swart, had been rendered helplessly drunk and detained in the saloon of Bennet's, appeared before the board in answer to a citation to show cause why his license should not be revoked. Bennett was represented by Attorney Jos. J. Bullock.

After reading the charge against Bennett, District Attorney Swart called the following witnesses, who were sworn and gave testimony for the people: Frank Parsons, Alfred La Croix, Herman Frey. Owing to the inability of several important witnesses to appear at the trial Monday, and it being agreeable to District Attorney Swart and Attorney Joseph Bullock, and on motion of Brown, seconded by MacBain, it was ordered three witnesses, Fred Wendt, John Souza and the barber at Pescadero, be cited to appear at the Bennett trial December 20th.

J. F. Sheehan, representing Foster and Kleiser, advertisers of San Francisco, appeared before the board in reference to advertising the county in San Francisco by means of illumination signs on Market street, the cost of said advertising to be $3,000 a year. The board took no action in the matter but the members expressed themselves as not being favorable to the proposition.

James Willison appeared before the board in reference to a claim of $1497.29 for hauling rock and screenings to be used in the construction of the Halfmoon Bay to Tunitas road and which was not called for in the contract. On motion of Brown, seconded by MacBain, the claim was allowed for $1,000.

On motion of MacBain, seconded by Casey, the board voted to take a two page representation for San Mateo county in California's Magazine, which is getting out a handsome and execlusive de lux edition on art in California and the Panama Pacific International Exposition. The representation which is in the nature of pictures and publicity write-up is to cost $100 a page.

The board adjourned at 4:10 p. m. to meet Monday, December 20.

ASSISTANCE ASKED FOR HOMELESS IN BELGIUM

Stafford Bros. Store a Depot for Many Things for the Needy in Europe

Christmas is in the air these days. If you don't believe it just make a trip down town. Go up and down Main street and Broadway and forget everything for a while and enjoy the Christmas windows. Feast on the gaily trimmed trees, the Santa Clauses, the temporary array of gifts—gifts on all sides. And then when you've enjoyed every window—when the Christmas feeling has sunken in and you feel just tingley with a desire to make someone happy, just stop and go straight to the headquarters of the local Belgium Relief Workers. For the present this will be at Stafford's store and its going to be a regular Santa Claus emporium in a few days if Redwood does its duty. And who ever yet knew Redwood to fail to lend a hand when the sorely stricken needed help?

Good people, the appalling situation of Belgium is too well known to go into deeply. Three million people must be clothed this winter. The contributions sent the Belgium Relief Commissioners have all been needed to furnish a bare minimum of food supplies to a starving nation. There is nothing left to cloth the destitute and undue exposure is already causing a greatly increased mortality among men, women and children. New garments are what is needed, because the strict sanitary regulations of the government make the transportation of second-hand garments impossible. Still there are thousands of men and women unemployed in Belgium, who will gladly make garments if they have the material.

Therefore, Mr. Merchant, if you have remnants on your shelves, won't you just send them around to the local workers? And all you Christmas shoppers, won't you help? Undergarments of all kinds are wanted, waists, blouses, shoes, stockings, socks, dresses, sweaters, caps and any kind of material—no matter how small the piece. These things will do more good than you know and your Christmas will be all the merrier for the giving.

Remember, "a little help is worth a deal of pity," and start right now to make the Committee's headquarters the most Christmasy place in Redwood City.

One week from Saturday is Christmas. Just seven more days in which to do your shopping. Don't wait until the last day. Go down town this week and make your purchases. You will find what you want in the different local shops.

Smoke De Molay 10c cigar and boost home industry.

Christmas is coming so buy your shoes at Marcus' shoe store.

Mail Xmas Packages Early

The post office department urges all to send their Christmas parcel post packages as early as possible. Mail early, wrap securely and address plainly. Parcels may be marked "Not to be opened until Christmas." The government will send 50 pounds 150 miles and 20 pounds everywhere.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD HAS MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The Needlework Guild held its first annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Brown last week. 293 garments collected by the directors were placed on exhibition and these included everything in the way of useful articles for the needy. A start of $5.75 for a shoe fund was reported. The articles collected will be distributed during the holiday week.

The directors are: Mrs. Robert Brown, Mrs. Geo. A. Merrill, Mrs. Carl Bettin, Mrs. R. W. Mantz, Mrs. James Hedge and Miss Gertrude Beeger.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER

D. E. O'KEEFE, Editor and Proprietor

THAT ROOSEVELT CRITICISM

That was a ringing arraignment of the president's message made by Colonel Roosevelt. The cutest criticism he makes is where he likens Mr. Wilson's elocution to the Byzantine logothete, which is a most delicate device to call the president a bluffer and poseur imaginable. It reminds one of how O'Connell paralyzed the termigant fish woman by telling her that her father was an logarithm, that her mother would have been a right angle triangle only the square of her base exceeded the sum of the squares of her two sides, that her sister without any marriage certificate ran away with an isosceles triangle and she herself was an old parallellogram. Another most telling point is when he shows how "heroic" has been the president's handling of the Mexican situation.

But the tone of the criticism if elaborated would in plain English read this way: "After I elected him and he knew my policy, see what a fiasco he is making. Not only is he disgracing the country, but he is hurting my feelings."

But as we read somehow the thought creeps in that maybe were the colonel president just how, we might be a little anxious about what the colonel would be doing tomorrow or next week.

CALL A HALT

The rulers and writers of Europe are beginning to explain who was to blame for the war. It is not necessary. They were all to blame except poor Belgium and poor Poland. They had all for years been making their preparations and combinations; either to participitate it or to meet it. Lust for territory and power, the desire to extend and dominate trade, fear, hate, all the dark passions were nursed until the strange paradox was present ed of the expected coming when it was not expected.

But under the explanation the truth shines out—they are exceedingly tired and would welcome any excuse which would stop the carnage, the mighty cost, the appalling heartaches—the disintégration, almost of society and civilized methods.

The Hague Tribunal should be convened, and through it the peaceful nations should utter something nearer a command than a petition for peace.

The most furious of the fighting nations have their ears to the ground, at this very moment, listening earnestly for that call.

Issues Handsome Calendar

The George H. Rice Abstract Company has just issued a very handsome and useful calendar. It contains a map of San Mateo County showing the supervisoral districts in colors, correct location of all cities and towns, railroads, mountains, streams, new state highway, county roads and boulevards. It also shows sections of land and the old Spanish grants in detail. Altogether it is one of the handsomest and most complete county maps of its size that has ever been published. Mr. Doxsee, the manager of the company, informs us that he will be glad to present one of these maps to any man or woman who may call at his office at the corner of Broadway and Hamilton street. They will not be given to children.

May Have Another Factory

Cox and Nichols, who own a tract of land south of town and extending to the Barney place, announced that they have about completed arrangements for erecting a big factory on the property across the Dumbarton railroad on the portion facing the bay. They are dealing with a prominent Eastern railroad man and no doubt a spur track will run through that part of the property and make connections with Redwood harbor. The party establishing the factory says he will be able to locate several other big enterprises. While the deal is not yet closed every indication points to an early termination of the negotiations. By next spring much activity will be seen in that portion of Redwood City.

FREE LIBRARY IS OPENED

On December 1st, San Mateo County Free Library, which has been looked forward to for so long by the book-lovers of the county, became a reality.

Miss Anne Bell Bailey who was appointed by the Board of Supervisors, in in charge, and the office is located in the pleasant rooms of the county law library, in the courthouse.

Miss Bailey is most enthusiastic over the prospect of a thriving county library and is rushing through preliminaries so that the actual establishment of branches may begin as soon as possible. She says the outlook is very promising, as she has received communications from several localities desiring branches.

The idea and scheme of the county library is to place reading matter in the hands of everyone in the county, whether in small towns or in remote districts, where heretofore, library service has been practically unobtainable; so branches are established in localities where the greatest number of people can be served from one point.

To these branches, books are sent from the main office in lots of fifty and are exchanged at stated times for different books, or supplemented by more material, according to the demand.

Besides the regular allotment of books sent to each branch, requests for special material required by borrowers, is supplied in all cases where it is possible to do so; consequently one may say the choice of the best books is brought to the door of the most isolated home.

San Mateo is one of thirty-five counties in this State which have adopted this system of book distribution and Miss Bailey says, "Judging from present indications, San Mateo county, after it is well established, will be one of the banner counties of the State."

TWO DANGEROUS HABITS

The practice of licking stamps and gummed envelope flaps, as well as that of sucking the end of the lead pencil, is very unsanitary indeed. As every one should know, the glue used on stamps and envelope flaps is made of refuse products, consisting of the bones and hoofs of animals which may or may not have been diseased. The stamps and envelopes themselves are made of all sorts of rags, which, in the course are poisonous. The safest plan is to moisten the gummed surfaces on a small wet sponge and take no risks. Children should be carefully warned about the indiscriminate sucking and chewing of pencils. This seems to be a habit of children that is hard to overcome. The lead in a pencil is poisonous, and so is the point, and the wood furnishes a convenient lodging place for all sorts of germs.

Booker T. Washington

After the visit of John Morley to the United States in 1904 he named Booker T. Washington as one of three great men whom he had met. Frederic Harrison, following his last visit to the United States and a study of Washington at close range, said that the Negro leader was "one of the most remarkable of men." Whatever the ultimate verdict upon him by historians, his name will endure, since a mountain in the state of Washington has been officially named Mt. Booker. That Washington was a shrewd student of men is seen in this hitherto unpublished story. Andrew Carnegie once offered him $40,000 for Tuskegee. "I can't take such a sum from a man like you," said Washington. Mr. Carnegie offered $70,000. "Neither can I take that, and for the same reason." Mr. Carnegie, astounded but flattered, proposed $100,000. Washington accepted, intimating that donor and gift were now commensurate.

Morgan's Fondness for Dogs

The late J. Pierpont Morgan was very fond of all dogs and had a just appreciation of their admirable qualities. He is reported to have said on a certain occasion, "Perhaps if men had four legs and could bark they would be more truthful and less treacherous." The abuse or cruel treatment of a dog by any one always aroused his indignation. Some years ago a handsome collie belonging to a neighbor in New York was run over Mr. Morgan was crossing the street. by a vehicle on Madison avenue while A crowd had collected in a few minutes near the wounded animal when a policeman rushed to the scene and, drawing his revolver, was in the act of shooting the injured dog, when Mr. Morgan raised his arm and called out in a loud voice: "Put up that pistol, the dog is only slightly injured." The officer obeyed orders at once and walked away. Mr. Morgan then called a young man in the crowd and handing him a bank bill, said: "Carry that dog to Mr. So and So's residence." It is needless to say that the dog recovered and the owner was very grateful for the humane act; but some weeks afterwards imagine the surprise of the great philanthropist to receive an official notice from the S. P. C. A. informing him that he had been elected an honorary member of that body as a recognition of his kindness to animals.

The package contained a number of pieces of belting taken from Allen and Son's planing mill. The men looted the mill of about 100 feet of belting valued at $90. Duck Hunters Galore But No Birds

The small army of trigger pullers who invadeed the waters of the bay and marshes last Sunday in quest of the web-foots met with very poor success. The storm of the week previous had scattered the birds far and wide. Tom Stott, his son Bill, Pete Locotelli, Carl Mayble, Frank Hansen, Seymour Elkerenkotter and a half dozen others shot over decoys in the bight on the bay shore south of Redwood Creek and brought in eight members of the feathered tribe between them. A party who shot on the Greco salt ponds scared what few ducks that came their way so badly that each of the broad bills took through tickets for Los Banos. Claude Fox, the veteran hunter, was forced out of the channel early in the morning by the howling southeaster with four birds to his credit, the wind-swept waters playing hide and seek with his little duck boat before he reached the smoother stretches of the creek. All of the boys shooting on the bay shore had a rough time of it making home. Guy P. Hull, expert shot and scull boat hunter, who never goes out without half a dozen deputy game wardens at his heels to see that he does not exceed the limit, secured one lone spoonbill on the marshes at San Carlos. Louis Debenedetti swamped his boat in the corkscrew cut off while retrieving a fine mallard. Jack Fehrn ventured forth in his launch, "P. D. S.," as far as Smith's creek and at 3 p. m. sent out a wireless s. o. s. for help. He was towed in by the steamer "Belvedere." Louis and Geo. Genochio, who secured the limit on the marshes across the bay, were compelled to take the train for this city, Irby Lowe bringing the launch "Oakwood" home in a smother of foam late in the afternoon. Joe Botto brought down eight spoonbills at Dunbarton. That none of the venturesome lads were drowned was a miracle, for the southerly storm lashed the waters of the bay into a seething mass that no small boat could possibly live in for any great length of time.

SERVES US FAITHFUL FOR TWELVE YEARS

M. E. Ryan Elected New Fire Chief. Waller Will Repair Old Town Hall Building.

M. E. Ryan was unanimously elected fire chief at a joint meeting of the board of trustees and volunteer firemen Monday evening. J. N. Winter, who has held the position most creditably for twelve years, declined another term. Julius Allain was chosen first assistant to the chief and Henry Beeger second assistant by unanimous vote. The accredited delegates from the fire department were—from company 1, Henry Beeger and A. S. Liguori; from company 2, Carl Plump and Jas. P. Coleman; from company 3, J. Allain and W. Williamson; from company 4, R. F. Chilcott and M. E. Ryan; from chemical, Ed. Allen and L. Winter; and from hook and ladder, L. Pipkin and W. Genochio.

Mr. Winter's services to the town have established a record for untiring loyalty and conscientious effort. He merits the gratitude and praise of every citizen and property owner for the city. Upon the suggestion of A S. Liguori, a substantial recognition of his valuable services will be given the retiring chief.

The fire department has responded to 35 fires during the year, 12 of which were grass fires. Over $17,000 worth of property has been destroyed by fire during the year, almost all of which was insured.

Trustee Sampson recommends that two members from each company be especially trained in the handling of the chemical tanks on the new fire truck when it arrives.

Gus Waller was awarded a contract to repair the fire house on Main street for $288. The building will be put in better condition than it was before the fire. Provision will be made to house the hook and ladder truck recently purchased.

Plans and specifications were ordered prepared by the city engineer for the extension of the James street sewer along the county road and on George and Minna streets. It will connect with the Broadway sewer. The rapid development of that part of the city served by the sewer line makes this extention necessary.

A redwood culvert was ordered placed across Broadway on the west side of the county road. Superintendent of streets Dickey will have charge of the work.

An ordinance regulating public dances was given its second reading and adopted. It was introduced by Trustee Hahir.

Because of his advanced years, Taussaint Allain has found it difficult to recover from the injuries he received last summer while watering trees for the city. He was injured by having his team which was hitched to a water wagon, drag him against a telephone pole. He asked the board for relief to the amount of $140, which was his hospital expense. The matter was looked upon with favor by the trustees who referred it to City Attorney Mansfield for investigation.

Mrs. Miramontes, assistant town clerk was given a raise in salary of $10 per month beginning January 1.

There was a full attendance of the board.

Wedding Bells to Ring in April

It is a secret no longer, and while the many friends of handsome John McKenna are showering congratulations upon him over his approaching marriage to a wealthy widow of the Garden City, there are numerous expressions of regret by the boys in the shop of S. H. Frank & Company over the necessary parting and severance of ties of companionship which must shortly follow. Mr. McKenna, "Sunshine Jack," as his fellow workmen call him by reason of his happy disposition, has been at the head of the rolling department of the tanning for twenty years, and during all that time has been held in high esteem by his employers for his unselfish devotion to duty. Coming here from New York, of which state he is a native, he practically adopted California as his birthplace. Mr. McKenna is a widower, his wife having died some years ago, the issue of that marriage being a beautiful girl, now fifteen years of age, who is being educated in San Francisco. The romance of "Sunshine Jack" started as did many others, at the Panama-Pacific exposition. He had been visiting the fair and on his way out to catch a car dropped in to view the marvelous painting of "Stella" of which he had heard so much. Standing beside him he noticed a lady whose wondrous beauty far outshone the one upon the canvas. A causal remark concerning the matchless work of art lead to a speaking acquaintance, which in no great length of time developed into a case of love at first sight and that is why handsome Jack McKenna will say goodbye to the boys with whom he has worked so long. The honeymoon trip will include visits to Honolulu and the South Sea Islands and as soon as the European war is over a trip to Berlin and Paris. The Times-Gazette joins Mr. McKenna's many friends in best wishes for a long and happy married life.

Mary T. Doherty, a native of New York, aged almost 88 years, died at Purissima on December 8th and the burial services were held at the Catholic church of Our Lady at Half-moon Bay Saturday morning, the Rev. Father Adriano officiating. Mrs. Doherty was the widow of the late Richard Doherty, mother of Arthur Britton, Herbert Buzzell(and the late Julia B. Clarke. The deceased has lived at Purissima for the past fifty-six years and has a host of friends, which includes every resident of Half-moon Bay and the southern part of San Mateo County, to mourn her loss. Her little unpretentious acts of kindness will long live in memory.

The possibilities of the Western Pacific tapping Santa Clara and San Mateo counties are more than vagaries of the mind, if the persistent reports prevailing in San Francisco and New York City have the foundation that financiers are prone to accept. Rudolph Spreckels has just arrived in San Francisco from New York, where he has been in conference with Senator James Phelan and George Whittell all of whom are members of the committee representing the Western Pacific in framing a report for the approval of the $50,000,000 bondholders. Spreckels refuses to comment on the situation, but he has admitted that his hurried return to California is in connection with the railroad and that he will go back to the Eastern metropolis in a few days.

Mrs. Williamson a Heroine

Mrs. "Billy" Williamson of this city proved last Sunday to the satisfaction of her husband at least, that while she does not participate in dansants and similar functions, when it comes to keeping a cool head and doing what is right in time of danger, she is 18 karats fine, and then some. Billy and his wife had gone across the bay early in the morning in their trim little gasoline launch the "Stormy Petrel" in quest of ducks. The day was not conductive to scull-boat hunting, as a strong southeast wind sprang up shortly after sunrise and continued nearly the entire day. About 4:30 in the afternoon a start was made for home after the small duck boat had been hauled aboard and lashed to the top of the cabin. When the channel was reached the storm was at its heighth and the launch labored hard through the heavy seas. Finally a great big green comber struck broadside on, washing clear over the cabin, tearing the duck boat from its lashings and carrying it overboard to leeward. About the same time the engine stopped and the sturdy little boat lay drifting helpless in the trough of the sea, with every succeeding wave threatening to send her to the bottom. It was an occasion to try a man's nerve, let alone a woman's. Did Mrs. Williamson scream or faint? Not she. While her husband hastily rigged a small sail to steady the launch and keep her on her course, Mrs. Williamson lashed down the tiller and rushed into the cabin to ascertain what was the matter with the engine. She soon discovered a broken wire and fixed it. Throwing in a shot of gasoline priming she gave the fly wheel one turn and the engine was again throbbing away and carrying the launch to safety. They reached home shortly after dark after having passed through an experience that few would care to duplicate. "I suppose that is your last trip?" said a lady friend to Mrs. Williamson the next morning. "I guess not," the gallant little woman replied, "Billy and I are going to have a sprig dinner for Christmas, and we will be out again next week. I love the green waters of the bay too much to think for a single moment that they will ever be so unkind as to provide a last resting place for myself and my husband."

The balance of the estate is left to the widow. According to the inheritance tax report the deductions are $9097.65 leaving a balance of $124,-896.04 subject to the tax which is $2586.94 which amount is to be paid to the state controller by Treasurer P. P. Chamberlain. Amoung the items of deduction are the fees of the attorney amounting to $1999.98 and the executor a like sum.

H. W. Schaberg, inheritance tax appraiser of the estate of Ella S. Miner, deceased, has filed his inventory and appraisement. The estate consists of three promissory notes appraised at $2250.

New Actions in the Superior Court

J. Early Craig has commenced an action in the superior court against Loren Coburn and his wife to recover the sum of $10,000 for attorney fees. The complaint alleges that Attorney Craig acted for the aged capitalist from 1904 to 1913 in various suits, representing him in the superior court of this county and San Francisco. R. P. Henshall is the attorney of record for Craig.

The Judson Manufacturing Company of San Francisco has petitioned the superior court for a writ of mandate to be issued against T. Sheehan, treasurer of Daly City, compelling him to pay plaintiff the sum of $195 a warrant which was issued by the trustees of Daly City last March. In 1914 the plaintiff furnished steel plates to the new water system at Daly City. The trustees allowed the claim but the treasurer would not pay the amount of the bill. Judge Buck has issued an alternative writ and it is understood that the money has been paid by Mr. Sheehan.

The civil suit of the Halfmoon Bay Light and Power Company against Frank Alvis was tried before Judge Buck in the superior court on Thursday. The action was brought to recover $500 on a promissory note. The note was given for stock in the company and defendant alleges that he did not receive the stock. After much testimony was presented the case was submitted to the court for its decision. W. H. Chapman of San Francisco appeared for plaintiff while the interests of the defendant were looked after by J. J. Bullock.

Ernest H. Slitor has brought an action in the superior court against James E. Riley and others to recover the sum of $1200 on a promissory note. The instrument was executed at San Mateo on November 1, 1913. Plaintiff asks for costs of suit and interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum from the date of the execution of said note.

Judge Buck on Thursday granted an interlocutory decree of divorce to Hedwig M. Drazich from her husband, Joseph Drazich on the grounds of extreme cruelty. The couple was married in San Francisco in March 16, 1914 and separated the following December. There were no children born to the couple and they accumulated no property. The plaintiff was represented by Boswell F. King the bright young attorney and son of F. R. King of Belmont with offices in San Francisco.

Contention Over Property Rights

The divorce case of Mrs. E. D. Johnson against her husband A. P. Johnson, the well-known capitalist of Belmont, was partly heard in the superior court before Judge Buck on Wednesday. The evidence of Mr. Johnson and his wife was heard besides the testimony of a few other witnesses. The case was continued at the close of the day until next Monday when the case will most likely be submitted. Much interesting bits of ancient history regarding the stock market during the palmy days of Comstock excitement in the early seventies was brought out in the evidence of Mr. Johnson, who dealt heavily in stocks in those days. He was a staunch friend of W. C. Ralston and hobnobbed with J. C. Flood and other celebrities of those days. Apparently the only contention between the aged couple is how to settle the property rights of both. Mrs. Johnson stated upon the stand just before the adjournment of court that she could not be reconciled with her husband and would not live with him, all she wanted was half of his property which is rightfully hers. The couple have been married since 1863 and have been separated for eighteen years. Mr. Johnson is represented by J. J. Bullock and Mrs. Johnson by R. P. Henshall and Nat Schmulewitz of Gavin McNab's office in San Francisco.
